T350V-50 Series and Parallel Battery System's Press Release

The T350-50 Series connection allows for increased overall voltage of the system while keeping the same capacity. This is ideal for applications requiring high voltage, such as electric buses and commercial vehicles. The T350-50 Series provides scalable and modular battery solutions that can be connected in series up to five sets of packs (708V / 520kWh) with an integrated high ...

Governance

American Battery Technology Company (ABTC) champions sustainable and ethical sourcing of critical battery materials through lithium-ion battery recycling, battery metal extraction technologies, and primary resource development for use in batteries that power electric cars, grid storage applications, and consumer electronics and tools.
