What happened to CAISO's solar load this April?

CAISO's load has been low this April, with a relatively mild spring, the continued march of BTM solar installations, and energy efficiency upgrades. However, with changes to the state's net-metering program, BTM solar growth has started to slow. All of the different generation sources we discussed so far are running with the goal of serving load.

When do CAISO operators use exceptional dispatches?
